1 = The amount of non-voided checks written to this exhibitor, not including manual adjustments (amounts added or subtracted directly on the check).

2 = The amount of manual adjustments (amounts added or subtracted directly on the check) on non-voided checks.

3 = The total amount of all non-voided checks for this exhibitor (note: this may include multiple checks).

4 = The amount that should have been written to this exhibitor at this moment in time (note: this will not include manual adjustments).

5 = Equals "Paid before Adjustments" minus "Calculated Earnings". A negative amount means that a check needs to be written for this exhibitor.

A positive amount means that more was written than should have been.

If Overpayment is positive, it is recommended that you void the exhibitor's check(s) and let ShoWorks Write Checks again for this exhibitor.

What this report means:

A zero Balance means that the same amount of receipts and charges were taken for the date range specified.

A positive Balance means that there are one or more exhibitors that have not paid enough during the date range specified.

A negative Balance means that there are one or more exhibitors that have overpaid during the date range specified.

What to do if the balance is not zero:

The Balance could be non-zero if an exhibitor payment was recorded on a date differently than when an entry was created or a fee was assessed. In this case, you can rerun the report with a broader date range to include all transactions.

If you still receive a non-zero balance, you can locate which exhibitors have underpaid or overpaid by creating a Custom Report using the "Exhibitors and Sellers" area and sort this report by their balance to easily identify which exhibitors have a non-zero balance.

*Net Income is also calculated by adding the amount of total entry and other fees, less premiums and travels paid out. Sale commissions and/or sale adjustments do not directly affect Net Income and are instead considered liabilities to pay to third parties. Sale amounts also do not directly affect Net Income as they are "pass-through" items from buyers to sellers.

* Net Income:	$153,543.50
----------------------	---------------------

*Net Income is also calculated by adding the amount of total entry and other fees, less premiums and travels paid out. Sale commissions and/or sale adjustments do not directly affect Net Income and are instead considered liabilities to pay to third parties. Sale amounts also do not directly affect Net Income as they are "pass-through" items from buyers to sellers.

ShoWorks™

ShoWorks™ is the most popular exhibitor and entries management software used by almost all state and county fairs in North America. Easily process registration, judging, premium payouts, and auctions for all types of entries including creative & home arts, media, livestock, and more.

For almost 20 years, ShoWorks has served entry offices and exhibitors by processing entries both online and on fairgrounds across the US and Canada. During this time, computing for fairs has evolved from a tool for only a few tech-minded operators to wide base of casual end-users including managers and CFEs, volunteers, judges, superintendents, exhibitors, club and school leaders. Security, user-friendliness, flexibility and scalability, Internet and mobile integration and back-office compatibility are just a few of the demands prompting a change in the way we look at entry software.
